PIONEER WOMAN CALLED BY DEATH

The hand of death last Thursday evening called to a close the long and useful life of one of Redwood City's best loved and respected pioneer women, when Mrs. Sarah Wentworth, after months of suffering went to her last repose. The end of life came peacefully to Mrs. Wentworth at the home of her son, Frank Wentworth on Arguello street.

Mrs. Wentworth was a resident of this county nearly all of her life. She was born in Cass county, Mo., on Feb. 26, 1844, and removed with her family to Redwood City in 1853, when what is now San Mateo county was a portion of San Francisco. She was the daughter of Judge Andrew Teague, one of the formative period of the county in 1857. Judge Teague was the first judge of this county, was one of the charter members of the Masonic lodge here.

Mrs. Wentworth took an active part in the religious life of the community even before the establishment of the church here. When the Congregational church was founded here in 1862, she was one of the original members and has been actively engaged in church work ever since. She was a member of the first choir of the church and sang in the choir for many years.

When the Sequoia chapter of the Eastern Star was formed here about twenty years ago Mrs. Wentworth was one of the charter members and was the first to be elected matron of the chapter. The life of this county pioneer was one of Christian devotion and usefulness. She carried her religion into her daily life and will be missed by all who knew her.

Mrs. Wentworth was married on September 20, 1864 to George Wentworth of this city. The couple had two sons, one of whom, Frank survives and is a well-known resident of this city; the other, Charles, passed away a number of years ago. Two sisters, Mrs. T. J. Shaw of Washington, and Mrs. Mary L. Rice of this city, survive. Three sisters, Mrs. Martha Durham, Mrs. Rebekah Clark and Mrs. F. M. Wright and a brother, William Teague preceded her to the grave.

With the passing of Mrs. Wentworth, the Times-Gazette loses one of its oldest subscribers. She read the original issue in 1859, and had been a constant subscriber during all the 64 years intervening.

The funeral will be held Sunday from the Congregational church, and will be conducted by the James Crook Company.

SHOOTING MYSTERY SPOILED; SUSPECTED VICTIM ALIVE

What started like a deep and dark mystery was developed in Redwood City's foreign settlement at Five Points this week when Francisco Robles fired two shots from a revolver, and witnesses told police that a man had been killed and was thrown into a machine by two friends from the Robles and carried away. No trace could be found of the dead man and it was thought that the body must have been hidden.

Robles was held at the county jail here for investigation. After days of mystery the man who was said to have been shot was located. It now appears that at the time of the shooting he screamed and ran into a nearby machine which was driven off. No other clues as to origin of the murder story have been located.

The charge against Robles was finally fixed at disturbing the peace and he appeared before Justice of the Peace Ray Griffin Monday.

CITY PLANNING COMMISSION FAVORS STREET EXTENSION

The Redwood City Planning Commission at their regular meeting last Monday night voted in favor of recommending to the board of trustees the proposition of extending Duane street through into Wellesley Park to its intersection with Arlington road.

The proposition was first made by C. D. Swift of Wellesley Park to the board of trustees and by him referred to the planning commission. The plan as outlined by Swift was to have the work done by the formation of an assessment district comprising the territory which would be benefited by the improvement. The district would include all the property between Hopkins street and Finger lane and between Somerset street and the first tier of lots on Arlington street in the Highlands or an equivalent distance from the highway in Wellesley Park.

BIG FIRE DESTROYS PISCADERO HOME

A fire early Wednesday morning destroyed the late Chandler house on Level Lea farm at Pescadero. The fire was caused by a coal oil lamp being turned over by T. Kuwahara, who is now occupying the Chandler place. Kuwahara was up at 3 o'clock in the morning administering to one of his two children who was sick. He lit the lamp and in his excitement tipped it over. He saved both children by carrying them out through the flames which almost immediately enveloped the whole room. The house was a total loss.

The Chandler house was one of the landmarks of Pescadero and was erected by Lafayette Chandler shortly after his arrival in Pescadero in 1857. At the time of the fire it was one of the finest houses on the coast and was the scene of many of the social activities of the early days.

SENATOR M. B. JOHNSON PAYS VISIT HERE

Senator M. B. Johnson, who is now running for re-election, was a local visitor Wednesday of this week. Senator Johnson says he is correcting the statement which has been made that he had moved out of the state. The senator was called east this year by the death of his father and brother, whose estates he has had to attend to. Mrs. Johnson, however, has never left the state nor has their home here ever been closed.

Senator Johnson will be remembered for his work in the senate in support of the good roads measures and for beneficial legislation for this district.

Eleven New Stores For Redwood City

Announcement was made this week of the intention of Daniel R. Stanford, local grocer, to start immediately the erection of eleven new stores on his property at the corner of the Highway and Broadway. Bids are now being received for the construction and the contract given. The stores will be completed by the end of the next few days.

According to the plans drawn by E. I. Coffey, local architect, the stores will have a frontage on Broadway, on the Highway and on a court to be built around the Union oil station, which will remain where it is. Three of the stores are already rented.

This property is across the street from the new Perry subdivision in which M. Sarfield is to erect a modern business building, and is directly across from the entrance of the new high school grounds, where a beautiful archway has been constructed. The new buildings will be of such a character as to add to the attractiveness of this corner which bids fair to become one of the principal business sections of the town.

A small building owned by Mr. Stafford on Broadway, near the corner has been leased by the Whitcomb & Smith Realty Co., and will soon be occupied. The present office of the company is on the corner of Clarendon street and the highway.

BIG DEAL MADE IN SAN CARLOS REALTY

A deal which will result in the breaking up and subdivision of one of the largest estates in this section of the county was made in San Francisco this week when the Municipal Properties Company closed the deal for the purchase of the famous Phelps estate at San Carlos. The estate comprises 1400 acres of land lying between the old highway and the bay.

The late Timothy Guy Phelps, pioneer resident of this district and one of the early senators from this district, who was killed in 1898 by being run down by a tandem bicycle. The estate was held by the widow of the late senator until her death several years ago.

The purchasers of the property are said to have already let a contract involving $1,000,000 for opening the tract, which is to be called the Devonshire tract, and subdividing it into lots and small tracts. Streets are to be laid out, and every refinement of a high class residential addition attended to.

This transaction is one of the largest single sales consummated in the county this year, and presages an extensive development of this section of the state.

Badly Burned Saving House

Ed Dearborn, Redwood City candidate for supervisor from the Third township, was badly burned this week in saving the residence of Captain Davies from the flames of a spreading fire. The fire is believed to have been started when a cigar which Davies had been smoking earlier in the morning ignited the bed clothes of his bed. Davies was at a neighbor's house when the fire started and it was not until Dearborn saw the flames from the street and rushed in.

When he reached the scene of the flames the bed was a mass of fire, and at imminent risk to himself, Dearborn picked up the flaming clothes and threw them out of the window. The few remaining sparks were soon extinguished and the house saved from destruction.

Examination showed that Dearborn was not seriously injured although his burns were most painful. He was given first aid treatment and will soon be on the mend.

Dearborn was for many years superintendent of streets of Redwood City, and is now engaged in the contracting business, a line of work in which he is an expert.

NEED BAY SHORE HIGHWAY

STATISTICS compiled by the California Highway Commission show that an average of 42,000 automobiles pass through Redwood City on the highway on Sunday. Allowing ten feet for each car, the minimum space possible, this means a stream of cars 794 miles long passing through this town every Sunday. It is no wonder then that motorists and pedestrians, alike, experience difficulty in crossing the highway at points where there is no traffic officer to halt the endless procession of cars. The Committee of Nine should be impressed by every means of the necessity of an additional highway between San Francisco and San Jose.

THE SCHOOLS

MAN, it has been said is a thinking creature. In fact the faculty for thinking more than any other, differentiates man from the beast. How important then that man in his formative years be taught to think, and how important that the system that guides the youth of the country in their thought and reasoning be kept in perfect condition. That system failing in its mission—that failure is immediately reflected in the growing citizenship of the nation and through those citizens in the nation itself.

The school system of this nation has been called the corner stone of free government. It is more than that; it is the very foundation of our institutions. If the corner stone be removed the building will stand but without the broadening influences of the school where would democracy be? Without the lessons in democracy, generally unrecognized it is true, but never the less potential, which are daily imprinted upon the mind of the undeveloped citizen by his meeting at school with children of other races, other stations in life and other creeds, our tolerant, liberal and equitable government would be impossible.

With an institution essential to the very existence of our institutions which have marked America as the leader of nations, how important it is that every effort for the improvement of this system be made and that those who will aid in strengthening the schools of the country be placed in positions where they can be effective in combatting ignorance.

RADICALISM

BUSINESS generally, which means banking, manufacturing, farming, exporting and importing, mining, lumbering, power development and transportation, have no fears of radicalism and are all improving. There is no real fear of a Third party or any ripping up of the Constitution in states or nation, and the political system of our country that has stood a century and a half will stand 1924.

Disappearance in business of political radicalism is a change which ought to stimulate enterprise, and help revival in trade.

Stock prices habitually advance when general trade is improving; and both stocks and bonds are advancing.

The Third party furore looks overdone if the sane and sensible every day American will get out and vote instead of trusting to luck that the other fellow will vote and save him.

RUNNYMEDE NOTES

The Community Players held a business meeting Monday evening at the Frank Hand home and enjoyed a social time following the business session. Plans were made for the coming year's work and rehearsals will be resumed on their play for October. Owing to the summer rush of work, rehearsals had been dropped for a few weeks. They are also arranging the literary program of the Runnymede 49-er Club for the 4th Saturday evening in September.

Mr. and Mrs. Niels Jacobson and son, Thowald Nelson and family, motored to Pacific Grove for a couple of days' stay with relatives the past week.

With the exception of Norene, who will visit for a couple of weeks with her uncle and aunt, they returned home Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Lenn Pollett, Ralph and Irma and John Arnott motored to Golden Gate Park Sunday to pass the day with relatives of the bay region.

NEWS OF MENLO PARK

If the old timers who are slumbering with the blast and who lived in Menlo Park forty years ago could only come back and view the scenes of their former activities and see the beautiful landscape, dotted with shacks they would feel like returning again to their slumbers in the grave. In their day Menlo and Atherton (then San Carlos) consisted of large tracts of land. Large oaks dotted the landscape, virgin soil produced bumper crops, the climate was superior to all others.

These men saw the advantages of the locality. They poured into the future and saw what was in store for Menlo Park. They knew how valuable the land would be and so made big investments. Their fine homes attracted the attention of the world. No tourist's visit would be complete without seeing the beautiful homes of Menlo Park. As years went on the old timers passed on and out of these sylvan scenes leaving their holdings to their children. In time the big estates were divided, some of the land placed on the real estate market and portions held by the heirs of the millionaires. During the past few years nearly all these exclusive tracts have been placed upon the market with scarcely any restrictions so that small buildings have been erected, dotting the entire area of Menlo Park and Atherton, and destroying its appearance and attractiveness. Of course no one will dispute the fact that the proletariat has equal rights with the millionaire in enjoying the beautiful attractions of this favored locality, in breathing the pure air, in building a home and delighting in the fragrance of the flowers that nowhere else grow half so fair. These rights were obtained from the beginning by an all-wise Providence to all the inhabitants be they rich or poor. However, there should have been some restrictions. All the choice exclusive tracts ought not to have been divided into lots. They should have been spared for imposing homes. As it is today the whole area of this section is cut up and here and there are scattered small houses. The zoning plan was not taken advantage of by the authorities. Palo Alto, with its zoning law in force and restrictions, is rapidly becoming the city of beautiful and attractive homes. Menlo Park has lost its opportunity. Whom shall we blame? Menlo Park's climate has no equal. Some time ago the government collected some valuable statistics and published them in a voluminous report that was sent broadcast last year.

According to these statistics covering a long period of years that portion of the peninsula known as Menlo Park is the world's most favored spot being freer from rainy days, fog, cloudy days, extremes of temperature, high winds and storms of all kinds than any spot on earth.

Here are the comparative figures: Average Menlo Park, 43 rainy days; cloudy days, 132; clear days, 213. Los Angeles, 41 rainy days; 172 cloudy days; 193 clear days. San Diego, 48 rainy days; 146 cloudy days; 219 clear days.

Menlo Park's perfect climate—Average foggy days per year 4; average daily temperature per year 60 degrees; highest average temperature per year 70 month of August; lowest average temperature per year 51 month of January.

Menlo Park's climate from data gathered by the government agents and later made part of the records at the Smithsonian institute in Washington shows that Menlo Park is in the center of what is considered a perfect climate belt. There are three such belts according to information gathered by the government, one in the Canary Islands, another in Africa, and that part of the peninsula, known as Menlo Park.

A well-known local resident, with other capitalists, has plans prepared for the erection of a half million dollar hotel on the foothills back of the Stanford lake, and not far from the famous Stanford stock farm. The lake that is now dry is to be filled with water to afford swimming and boating for the guests of the proposed hotel. One of the finest golf links in the United States is to be constructed there. The structure on a site overlooking the whole of the Santa Clara valley, a lake of large dimensions affording swimming and excellent boating and a climate unexcelled are sure to lure the tourist to that favored section. A lease of ninety-nine years are to be given to the promoters, as the deed of trust given to the university by the late Senator Stanford contains a clause which forever prohibits the sale of the land outright. It is probable that work on the building will be commenced this fall.

Mr. Skievo, the well-known wholesale fruit and produce man, has leased the lower floor of the new Slinger building and will conduct a retail and wholesale fruit and vegetable emporium. The big trucks that pass in the night along the highway gathering produce of all kinds are owned by Mr. Skievo. The upper portion of the new building will contain three modern apartments with Murphy beds. Two of the apartments are already leased to San Francisco parties.

Mrs. Eugene Kelly, who last year sold her beautiful home at Portola, has purchased a lot of land on Mills avenue, adjoining the attractive home of John Welsh upon which she will erect a modern bungalow. Mrs. Kelly will become a resident of Menlo Park.

Mrs. Herman Phleger, nee Macconrady, is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. James L. Flood. Mrs. Phleger lost her infant child some little time ago.

Miss Nancy Nunn, the pretty and charming young lady who looks after Cupid's affairs in the county clerk's office at Redwood City, has returned from her vacation spent at Santa Barbara. Miss Nunn has a happy faculty of smoothing the ruffled nerves of young couples as they approach Cupid's desk for marriage licenses. The blushing bride and flustered swain are soon calmed by the blandishments and sweet smiles of Cupid's representative who makes the task easy and sends them away rejoicing and not unfrequently directing them to the nearest magistrate.

Mrs. J. B. Logan and her little daughter, Frances, have returned from Alameda, where Mrs. Logan visited her sister.

Mrs. Marshall Madison, nee Eyre, has returned to Menlo Park after an extended visit to relatives in San Rafael.

Menlo Parlor Native Daughters of the Golden West will give a dance tonight in Duff and Doyle hall. Good music has been secured and dancing will continue until 2 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Visitors from all neighboring parlor, including Vendome of San Jose, Bonita of Redwood City and the baby parlor of Palo Alto, were present when the officers of Menlo Parlor N. D. G. W. were installed last Monday evening by District Deputy Gert Kavanaugh. The installation ceremonies were followed by games and an entertainment. A banquet was served later.

Menlo Parlor N. D. G. W. will hold a card party Saturday evening, Aug. 30. Good prizes have been secured and the committee consisting of Misses Mathilda Sturmgear, Gertrude Kavanaugh and Florence Gilbert promise a good time to all who attend.

EDUCATION: The educational interests of American children are of national concern. While no undue burdens must be forced upon the government, we should not economize at the expense of future generations. The problem of education is such scope that problems of illiteracy, Americanization and the combating of ignorance need the active aid and encouragement of our national government for their proper solution. Popular education and our common schools should have the active support of the national government.

WHEN the winter storms rage and you are comfortably seated in your home, these men are patrolling lines, flumes and ditches, battling snow, sleet and ice to keep the water flowing. If it freezes up and fails to flow to the power house, the generators stop and the electric energy ceases to flow.

Tons of snow, sleet and ice often accumulate on power lines, breaking them down with the weight. These men endeavor to avoid the breaking, but should it occur, they make temporary repairs and rush crews to the scene, so that you may continue to enjoy the comfort and convenience that electric energy brings.

Doing for others—withstanding hardships—a noble cause indeed is the spirit that spurs these men on, assuring you of continuous service.
